5. DISCLOSURES OF YOUR PERSONAL DATA

We only share personal data with others when we are legally permitted to do so. When we share personal data with others, we put contractual arrangements and security mechanisms in place to protect the personal data shared and to comply with our data protection, confidentiality and security standards and obligations.

Your data may be shared with the third parties listed below This list is non-exhaustive and there may be circumstances where we need to share personal data with other third parties.

Other members of our group	We share data with other organisations in our group who provide services to us.
Third-party suppliers who provide applications/ functionality,	We share personal data with third parties who support us in providing our Site and help provide, run and manage our internal IT systems and provide other administration.

data processing or IT services
Event partners and suppliers	When we run events, we will share your personal data with third-party service providers that are assisting us with the operation and administration of that event. If we are running an event in partnership with other organisations, we will share your personal data with such organisations for use in relation to the event.
Payment providers and banks	We share personal data with third parties who assist us with the processing of payments and refunds.
Third-party post/email marketing and CRM specialists	We share personal data with specialist suppliers who assist us in managing our marketing database and sending out our post and email marketing communications and account-related communications.
Auditors, lawyers, accountants and other professional advisers	We share personal data with professional services firms who advise and assist us in relation to the lawful and effective management of our organisation and in relation to any disputes we may become involved in.
Law enforcement or other government and regulatory agencies and bodies	We share personal data with law enforcement or other government and regulatory agencies or other third parties as required by, and in accordance with, applicable law or regulation.
Another corporate entity in connection with a business transition	If we are involved in a business transition such as a merger, reorganisation, acquisition by another company, or sale of any of our assets, we may share or transfer personal data to a third party. Any new owner of our business may continue to use your personal data in the same way(s) that we have used it, as specified in this Privacy Policy.
Other third parties	Occasionally, we may receive requests from third parties with authority to obtain disclosure of personal data, such as to check that we are complying with applicable law and regulation, to investigate an alleged crime, or to establish, exercise or defend legal rights. We will only fulfil requests for personal data where we are permitted to do so in accordance with applicable law or regulation.

6. INTERNATIONAL TRANSFERS

We may share your personal data within our group of companies which involves transferring your data outside the United Kingdom or the European Economic Area (EEA).

Countries outside of the United Kingdom or the EEA do not always offer the same levels of protection to your personal data, so UK and European law has prohibited transfers of personal data outside of the UK and EEA (respectively) unless the transfer meets certain criteria.

Many of our third parties service providers are based outside the UK or the EEA so their processing of your personal data will involve a transfer of data outside the EEA.

Whenever we transfer your personal data out of the EEA, we do our best to ensure a similar degree of security of data by ensuring at least one of the following safeguards is in place:

- We will only transfer your personal data to countries that the European Commission have approved as providing an adequate level of protection for personal data by; or
- Where we use certain service providers, we may use specific contracts or codes of conduct or certification mechanisms approved by the European Commission which give personal data the same protection it has in Europe; or

If none of the above safeguards is available, we may request your explicit consent to the specific transfer. You will have the right to withdraw this consent at any time.

7. DATA SECURITY

We have put in place security measures to prevent your personal data from being accidentally lost, used, altered, disclosed, or accessed without authorisation. We also allow access to your personal data only to those employees and partners who have a business need to know such data. They will only process your personal data on our instructions and they must keep it confidential.

We have procedures in place to deal with any suspected personal data breach and will notify you and any applicable regulator of a breach if we are legally required to.

8. DATA RETENTION

We will only retain your personal data for as long as necessary to fulfil the purposes we collected it for, including for the purposes of satisfying any legal, accounting, or reporting requirements.

When deciding what the correct time is to keep the data for we look at its amount, nature and sensitivity, potential risk of harm from unauthorised use or disclosure, the processing purposes, if these can be achieved by other means and legal requirements.

For tax purposes the law requires us to keep basic information about our customers and suppliers (including Contact, Identity, Financial and Transaction Data) for six years after they stop being customers and/or suppliers.

In some circumstances we may anonymise your personal data for research or statistical purposes in which case we may use this information indefinitely without further Policy to you.

9. YOUR LEGAL RIGHTS

Under data protection laws you have rights in relation to your personal data that include the right to request access, correction, erasure, restriction, transfer, to object to processing, to portability of data and (where the lawful ground of processing is consent) to withdraw consent.

You can see more about these rights at:

<https://ico.org.uk/for-organisations/guide-to-the-general-data-protection-regulation-gdpr/individual-rights/>

If you wish to exercise any of the rights set out above, please contact us using the contact details provided above.

You will not have to pay a fee to access your personal data (or to exercise any of the other rights). However, we may charge a reasonable fee if your request is clearly unfounded, repetitive or excessive or refuse to comply with your request in these circumstances.

We may need to request specific information from you to help us confirm your identity and ensure your right to access your personal data (or to exercise any of your other rights). This is a security measure to ensure that personal data is not disclosed to any person who has no right to receive it. We may also contact you to ask you for further information in relation to your request to speed up our response.

We try to respond to all legitimate requests within one month. Occasionally it may take us longer than a month if your request is particularly complex or you have made a number of requests. In this case, we will notify you.

If you are not happy with any aspect of how we collect and use your data, you have the right to complain to the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO), the UK supervisory authority for data protection issues (www.ico.org.uk). We should be grateful if you would contact us first if you do have a complaint so that we can try to resolve it for you.

We use cookie technology to help log visitors to our website (“Site”). By doing this, it helps us to provide you with a good experience when you browse our Site and allows us to improve our Site.

Cookies are pieces of data that are created when you visit a website, which are then stored in the ‘cookie directory’ of your computer / device. A number of cookies can be created when you visit a website.

bSI uses the following cookies:

- Functionality cookies. These are cookies enable our Site to function. They allow you to move around our website and use its features, log-in to your account and remember certain preferences. Some of these cookies may be ‘strictly necessary’ to our service and we explain what this means in further detail below.
- Analytical or performance cookies. These cookies allow us to recognise and count the number of visitors and to see how visitors move around our Site when they are using it. This helps us to improve the way our Site works, for example, by ensuring that users are finding what they are looking for easily.
- Targeting cookies. These cookies record your visit to our Site, the pages you have visited and the links you have followed. We will use this information to make our website and the advertising displayed on it more relevant to your interests. We may also share this information with third parties for this purpose

Cookies can also be categorized as follows:

- Session cookies. these are only stored on your computer during your web session and are automatically deleted when you close your browser – they usually store an anonymous session ID allowing you to browse a website without having to log in to each page but they do not collect any personal data from your computer; or
- Persistent cookies. a persistent cookie is stored as a file on your computer and it remains there when you close your web browser. The cookie can be read by the website that created it when you visit that website again. We use persistent cookies for Google Analytics and Clicky.com.

2 STRICTLY NECESSARY

Some of the cookies that we use on our Site are strictly necessary for it to function and cannot be deactivated. You can choose to have your browser block or alert you on these types of cookies, however, this may result in some parts of the Site not working. These cookies do not store information that will identify you directly. However, other non-essential cookies may be deactivated, which is explained below.

3 THIRD PARTY COOKIES

You should note that third parties may also make use of cookies. We do not have control over the use of such cookies (which are likely to be analytical).

4 LIST OF COOKIES USED

More information on some of the cookies we use and the purposes for which we use them, is listed in the Cookie Settings. Click the arrow head by the cookie category to see the cookies under each category.

5 DEACTIVATING COOKIES

You can block cookies via the settings on your internet browser. This will allow you to refuse the setting of all or some cookies. If you use this setting to block all cookies, including those that are essential, you may not be able to access all parts of our Site. To find out more about cookies, including how to see what cookies have been set, visit www.aboutcookies.org or www.allaboutcookies.org.
